Dear Ms. Kohler,

My name is Sean King in the office of former U.S. Senator Alfonse D'Amato of New York. Park Strategies, LLC and I are registered with the U.S. Department of Justice, under the Foreign Agents Registration Act, as agents on behalf of our client, the Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office (TECRO) in the United States. I also went to Notre Dame for grad school if that counts for anything ;)

As per attached, there's an inbound Taiwan Agricultural Trade Goodwill Mission that will soon visit eight states (including Indiana). To kick it off, there will be a Letter of Intent (LOI) signing ceremony with U.S. grain exporters tomorrow, Thursday, September 24th, at 10am, at the North Congressional Meeting Room [right next to the Atrium (please note the change of location from the attached invitation)] of the new U.S. Capitol Visitor Center. Representatives Boozman (AK), Bordallo (GU), Burton (IN), Foster (AK), Moore (WI), Peterson (MN), and Tiahrt (KS), as well as Senator Chuck Grassley (IA), are already confirmed to attend.

I realize this request is very last-minute, but might Senator Bayh be able to stop by the LOI signing? I think TECRO's already reached out to your office on this matter, but I just wanted to lend an additional voice of support.

In 2008, Indiana exported $126.52mn worth of goods and services to Taiwan, including $8.52mn in processed foods and $5.12mn in various agricultural crops. Indiana also has a state trade office in Taiwan, on the seventh floor Taipei World Trade Center. What's more, Taiwan's capital, Taipei is one of Indianapolis's five sister cities abroad. So, considering this mission will visit Indiana, it would mean a lot to have Senator Bayh there for tomorrow's signing. We'd greatly appreciate any further consideration Senator Bayh might give this admittedly last-minute request, thanks very much in advance.

Go Irish,
Sean King

The Agricultural Trade Goodwill Mission, 2009

Background Information

1. Taiwan is the 7th largest export market for US agricultural products, importing a huge amount every year. Taiwan purchased a total of US$3.5 billion worth of agricultural products from the US last year alone. Since 1998, an Agricultural Trade Goodwill Mission has traveled to the US to place orders, usually every two years. In 1998, 2000, 2002, 2003, 2005 and 2007, the government invited leading businesses from Taiwan's grain industry to go with the mission to meet agricultural and trade policymakers in the US federal government, as well as members of Congress. The mission also visited agricultural states in the Midwest, and signed letters of intent with US associations and bulk commodity suppliers. During the 2007 visit, for instance, the mission signed a letter of intent to purchase products such as grains and meat worth US$4 billion over two years (2008-2009).
2. This is the seventh year that Taiwan will send an agricultural mission to the US. The mission will travel from September 21 to October 4, which coincides with the grain harvest season and when congress is in session. From September 22 to 24, the mission will visit Washington, DC to attend a ceremony for the signing of a letter of intent on Capitol Hill, to meet with members of congress and to visit other federal agencies. The mission will later split into two delegations: the Soybean and Corn Delegation will visit Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Missouri, while the Wheat Delegation will travel to Kansas, North Dakota, Montana and California.
3. The Agricultural Trade Goodwill Mission 2009 consists of 22 members, 14 in the Soybean and Corn Delegation and 8 in the Wheat Delegation. Members include representatives from the Taiwan Vegetable Oil Manufacturers Association, the Taiwan Feed Industry Association and the Taiwan Flour Mills Association, as well as personnel from the Taiwan offices of the US Grains Council, the US Soybean Export Council and the US Wheat Associates. The Mission will be led by Mr. Paul Ming-hsien Sun, Chairperson of the Board of AVRDC - The World Vegetable Center and former minister of the Council of Agriculture. It is expected that the delegations will conclude a letter of intent for 2010-2011 with a value of approximately US$3.5 billion.

Sean –

Sorry I sat on this email so long. I have been to China and back as well as several US trip since our visit...so I'm still digging out of emails.

In all candor, a trip to Taiwan will be difficult to fit into his schedule over the next 12 months with the NRSC responsibilities and unpredictable Senate schedule. I am adding the Senator's Legislative Director to this email in the event there is an opportunity to send Senator Cornyn to Taiwan in the next year.

I do know it's an opportunity the Senator would love, so we will definitely keep it on our radar screen!

All the best,
Jamie

Dear Jamie,

My name is Sean King in former Senator Alfonse D'Amato's office. It was nice meeting you on Monday when Senator Cornyn came to visit. As I mentioned that day, Park Strategies, LLC and I are registered with the U.S. Department of Justice, under the Foreign Agents Registration Act, as agents on behalf of our client, the Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office (TECRO) in the United States.

We would be very grateful if Senator Cornyn ever considered visiting Taiwan at a time of his choosing. As per below, there have been a number of developments in Taiwan/mainland China Cross-Strait relations, and this would be a great time for Senator Cornyn to take the pulse of these events firsthand. Senator Cornyn can visit Taiwan whenever he wanted, and would have an agenda created around his specific interests/scheduling needs. He would also of course, be granted an audience with Taiwan President Ma Ying-jeou. Senator Cornyn's travel would be funded through the State Department's Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act (MECEA).

On the economic front, in 2008, Texan firms sold $3.9 billion in goods and services to Taiwan – making Taiwan Texas's eighth largest export market. The top five categories of exports were Computers & Electronics Products, Chemicals, Machinery, Petroleum & Coal Products, and Waste & Scrap. Five Texan cities have sister relationships in Taiwan, namely Addison→Banciao City, Austin→Taichung, Houston→Taipei, Plano→Hsinchu, and San Antonio→Kaohsiung. Please let me know if you'd like to discuss this further, or if I can answer any questions you might have. Thanks so much in advance for your consideration.

Cross-strait ties now based on mutual non-denial: MAC head

Sunday, July 19, 2009

The China Post news staff

TAIPEI, Taiwan -- Cross-strait ties are now based on the understanding that neither side denies the other, Taiwan's top China policy maker has said.

The regular talks being held between negotiators from Taiwan and China mean that both sides have gone from "mutual denial" to "mutual non-denial," said Lai Hsing-yuan, chairwoman of the Mainland Affairs Council (MAC).

Lai, speaking to overseas Chinese in Washington D.C., said China must respect Taiwan's integrity and rights to survival in the international community, according to the Central News Agency (CNA).

"China must fully understand the feelings and expectations of the Taiwan people, so that a firm foundation for sustainable development in cross-strait relations can be laid," Lai was quoted as saying.

Over the past year, the government has been able to strengthen Taiwan's sovereignty claims and create a better economic environment through cross-strait talks and exchange, as well as more participation in international events, she said.

Cross-strait tensions have eased since President Ma Ying-jeou took office in May 2008. But the Ma administration has been eager to convince the opposition camp, as well as local and overseas critics, that its cross-strait policy is not undermining Taiwan's sovereignty or steering the island towards eventual unification with China.

Lai said all the think tanks, experts, government officials and congressmen she met with during her stay in the United States have all lauded Ma's cross-strait policy.

Asked if any of them has expressed worries that Ma's China policy has been going "too fast," Lai was cited by CNA as replying, "Absolutely none."

Some overseas Chinese proposed that Taipei and Beijing build a military mutual trust mechanism, and that China remove its missiles targeting Taiwan.

Lai admitted that cross-strait ties do face major obstacles in China's military threat and efforts to squeeze Taiwan's role in the international community.

"China must further recognize that fact of cross-strait politics, and let Taiwan have the right to play a meaningful role in international organizations and activities," said Lai.

But she said the present focus of the government is on the cross-strait economic and exchange activities.

The time is not yet ripe for discussion of highly political issues, such as a peace agreement, and they will not be put on the cross-strait agenda until a national consensus can be reached in Taiwan, the MAC chief said.

Taiwan to buy more Indiana corn, soybeans Associated Press
11:26 AM CDT, September 25, 2009
INDIANAPOLIS

Taiwan officials have signed a pact to continue buying corn and soybeans from Indiana.

Members of a trade delegation from the Asian country signed the agreement Friday with Indiana Lt. Gov. Becky Skillman during a Statehouse ceremony.

The Indiana agreement is part of a larger deal that Taiwan officials signed Thursday in Washington, pledging to buy $3.5 billion in American agricultural products over the next two years.

How much the country buys from Indiana will be up to private negotiations. But state officials say the purchase is sure to be in the tens of millions of dollars.
